Dear Friends,

Welcome to the Beethoven in the Rockies Concert Series! Our 2022 season will explore some of the most beautiful orchestral and ensemble music in the stunning UNC Campus Commons Performance Hall. We will begin with one of the best chamber ensembles of our region: the Colorado Piano Trio, with a program of fun music by Beethoven and fiery tangos of the Argentinian master Astor Piazzolla,

Our second concert will feature the thrilling Boulder Chamber Orchestra under the baton of Maestro Bahman Saless, with the music of the much beloved Mozart.

The third concert will feature a traditional Lakota Nation music and dance ensemble, and the Greeley Chamber Orchestra under the baton of Maestro Dan Frantz, with glorious music by the Native American Ancestors and classical and modern masters.

The following concert will take us on a journey to the East, presenting the UNC Asian Mixed Ensemble performing traditional and modern gems of Asian repertoire on original and modern instruments as well as Western masterworks inspired by the rich Asian cultural heritage.

Our final concert will present the Loveland Orchestra under the baton of Maestro Louie Silvestri, in a Beethoven program that will also feature the world premiere of "The Flood" - a new orchestral work by Jim Klein and Ian Jamison reflecting on the story of the 1973 flood in the Greeley and Kersey area.

We look forward to welcoming you at the concerts!
